

By undertaking professional development training with Good Shepherd, you support positive systems change for women, girls and families and work toward your FIAP actions.

What we offer

We provide bespoke training specifically tailored to meet your needs. Our training programs are interactive and can be designed to build capacity in a wide range of areas, including:

- financial hardship and vulnerability,
- family violence awareness,
- supporting complex clients and intersectionality,
- identifying the signs of economic abuse.

Your training will be unique to you. We co-design the program with you and create bespoke content that aligns with your organisation's priorities and policies.

The training sessions can be delivered in person or online, in Australia or internationally.

We specialise in financial wellbeing for employees and can deliver training programs covering:

future planning

economic security

resources and supports

As a valued FIAP Member, you are eligible for a 10% discount on your training package.

Testimonials

"The Chisholm Family Violence Project and Good Shepherd delivered family violence awareness training to the Chisholm workforce over a 2-year period. The Good Shepherd training team worked collaboratively with the Family Violence Project and were flexible and tailored training to the needs of the workforce. The Evaluation Reports produced by Good Shepherd enabled the training to be altered based on participant feedback. I would highly recommend Good Shepherd as a training provider."

Project Manager, Chisholm Institute

"Good Shepherd's training had real impact and has proven to be an invaluable resource for our team."
